

PRINCESS JULIANNA GENERAL BIOG

Princess Julianna (aka P J Higgins) has collaborated with a host of artists over the years, lending her quirky anecdotes to many a project and recording.

A talented Singer/Songwriter, she's worked with 'Temple Of Sound' (ex Transglobal Underground) since their creation in 1997, performing on all three of their albums, 'Black Orchid', 'First Edition' and 'Globalhead'.

It was via this association that P J then went on to meet and collaborate with Transglobal's ex starlet and Egyptian diva, 'Natacha Atlas, where she featured on two of Natacha's solo albums, 'Something Dangerous' and 'Mish Maoul'

Mixing a vast array of styles which can range anywhere between Electro/Rap/Reggae/Punk/R&B...whatever mood takes her...P J personifies' the synthesis of multicultural Britain from where she originates and continually draws influence and stimulus from the sounds around her.

Queen of lyrical subversion, she's never shy of mixing a satirical undercurrent within her work and this is best demonstrated with her Punk project, 'The Black Stripe', or for the Reggae lovers abound, her comedic take on the Tapper Zukie classic 'MPLA' has gained acclaim far and wide.

Recent collaborations and projects to date include 'Almamegretta', Africa Unite', 'Ali Slimani', Los De Abajo, 'Son of Dave', as well as providing the character vocal for Mo'start on the BBC animation 'Freefonix'.
